Newspapers Confiscated Because of Political Cartoon

PRESS RELEASE/ADVISORY:

Newspapers confiscated because of political cartoon.

Originator: Cartoonists Rights Network (CRN)
Date: April 24, 2003.

Country: Azerbaijan.

Person: Editor Muhammed Arsoy

Target: The newspaper "Bizim Yol" (Our Way)

Source: CASCEN Network and the BBC.

Type of violation: Paper sellers detained and questioned, newspapers confiscated.

(CRN/IFEX) - The following is an April 24, 2003 CRN press release: Cartoon precipitates confiscation of newspaper in Azerbaijan.

The Cartoonists Rights Network reports this article found on the CASCEN web site. CASCEN is a network of press freedom groups within Central Asia and Southern Caucasus dealing with the problems of journalists, the press and the mass media. Its mission is to provide assistance to press freedom groups in obtaining information and to be actively involved in the region's issues in general.

Police Confiscate Newspaper Posted on Tuesday, April 22 @ 12:34:19 CDT
CASCEN-On Sunday, April 20, 2003 policemen in Nizami District of Baku, Azerbaijan confiscated copies of the newspaper "Bizim Yol" (Our Way) from the retailers. As told one of the sellers on day time of Sunday policemen in the territory of Nizami District begun to stop newspaper sellers and convene them to police station.

Some four sellers were stopped and convened to the police station where they were questioned about the newspaper "Bizim Yol." Police asked sellers where did they get copies of the paper, who is behind that etc. Then the copies of "Bizim Yol" were confiscated and sellers set free. No violent behavior was observed during this "clearance"action.

Newspaper's editor-in-chief Muhammed Arsoy told to CASCEN that the case was connected to the cartoon of the president Heydar Aliyev which was published on the last issue. The cartoon describes Aliyev sitting on donkey and his son, Ilham keeping the tail of the donkey and crying: "Dad, take me too..." But father says: "Your English is not pure. As soon as you learn to speak pure English I'll take you with me".

Arsoy said that the authorities are feared of the growing popularity of the newly appeared weekly and "we're waiting other acts of the violation of our rights".

Later on Monday, April 21, the confiscation or restriction of distribution of the newspaper continued in other parts of the city.

CASCEN Council Chairman Azer H. Hasret condemned the fact and called on authorities to end with the violation of rights of free media. "In case of continuance of such kind of behaviors we'll show our solidarity and take actions to protect our colleagues," added Hasret.

"Bizim Yol" is newly appeared independent weekly very critical to President Heydar Aliyev.

Then CRN was alerted to another source for more information on the event:

TCU-AZERI-PRESS-ARREST

Cartoon in Azeri paper leads to arrest of news vendors. Text of Tale Asad report by Azerbaijani newspaper Yeni Musavat on 18 April entitled "Police acts as censor"

Several vendors of Bizim Yol newspaper were arrested near the Neftcilar underground station by employees of the Nizami district police department [of Baku] yesterday [17 April]. In this connection, we telephoned the police department. The duty officer answering the phone confirmed the arrest, saying that it was connected with the "Bizim Kuklalar" [Our Dolls] cartoon published on the newspaper's back page.

To clarify the situation, we called the general secretary of the Azerbaijani Confederation of Journalists, Azar Hasrat. He said he was aware of what had happened: "The police have no right to confiscate newspapers or arrest those selling them. This is, of course, arbitrariness. Only if there is a court verdict can the police confiscate a newspaper. If someone doesn't like a cartoon or an article in a newspaper, they should apply either to the Press Council or to the court. Those guilty of such arbitrariness must be punished.

Cartoonists Rights Network condemns the confiscation of newspapers, and the detention of legitimate news vendors simply going about their business. Acts like these brings into question the Azerbaijani Government's intentions with journalists and its unconvincing commitment to freedom of expression.

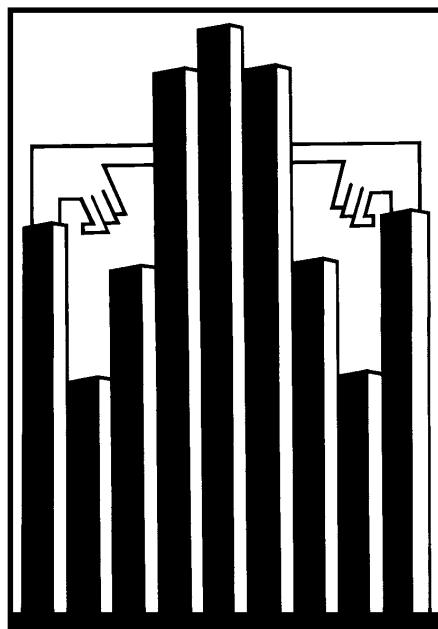

We are in the process of obtaining a copy of the cartoon for posting on our Regional Web site (see below).

Editor Ali Lmrabet in Jail Because of a Cartoonist's Work

CARTOON BY: NIKAHANG KOWSAR

Editor Ali Lmrabet sentenced to four years in prison Reporters Without Borders voiced dismay over the jailing today of newspaper editor Ali Lmrabet immediately after a court convicted him of "insulting the king," sentenced him to four years in prison and a fine of 20,000 dirhams (about 2,000 euros) and banned his two weeklies, Demain Magazine and Douman. Lmrabet has been on hunger strike since 6 May.

"We are dismayed and horrified by this verdict," Reporters Without Borders secretary-general Robert Ménard said, calling for Lmrabet's immediate and unconditional release. "The Moroccan justice system has once again proved its incapacity to act with independence."

Ménard noted that this was the first time that article 400 of the criminal code, which permits a defendant's immediate arrest, has been applied in the case of a press offence. "Is Ali Lmrabet a dangerous criminal who must be imprisoned on the spot?" he asked. Ménard said the four-year jail sentence posed "a clear threat to the rest of the independent press."

At a time when Morocco was having to deal with tragedy, Reporters Without Borders said it called on King Mohammed VI to act boldly to demonstrate his commitment to real press freedom without taboos and no-go zones, a freedom that was seriously undermined by today's verdict.

Background Lmrabet's trial on charges of "insulting the person of the king", "offence against territorial integrity" and "offence against the monarchy" began on 13 May. He was prosecuted for articles and cartoons about the annual allowance that parliament grants the royal family (detailed in a finance ministry document distributed to parliamentarians), the history of slavery, a photomontage of Moroccan political personalities, and an interview with a Moroccan republican who advocated self-determination for Western Sahara. The king's prosecutor initially requested the maximum five-year prison sentence, a fine of 100,000 dirhams (about 10,000 euros) and the banning of the two weeklies. He also requested Lmrabet's immediate arrest under article 400 of the criminal code and police detained Lmrabet in the courtroom for about 10 minutes on 13 May, until the detention order was revoked as a result of his lawyers' objections.

Previously, at the beginning of May, the owner of the printing works Ecoprint told Lmrabet that he would have to stop printing Lmrabet's two weeklies because of pressure being put on him. He later said it was because he disagreed with their content.

When he began his hunger strike on 6 May, Lmrabet said he was acting to defend his rights, to stop repeated acts of intimidation against his printer and others who would otherwise be ready to print his weeklies, and in order to be able to enjoy the right to freedom of movement. As Lmrabet was about to fly from Rabat airport to Paris on 17 April, two agents from the Directorate of Territorial Surveillance (DST) told him he was banned from leaving the country "on the instructions of the DST." The ban was lifted the following week.

Reporters Without Borders defends imprisoned journalists and press freedom throughout the world, as well as the right to inform the public and to be informed, in accordance with Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Reporters Without Borders has nine national sections (in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom), representatives in Abidjan, Bangkok, Buenos Aires, Istanbul, Montreal, Moscow, Nairobi, New York, Tokyo and Washington and more than a hundred correspondents worldwide.
